If you want to know how to download from Netflix, here's what you need to do. How to download from Netflix on Windows If you want to download Netflix shows and movies on Windows 10 PC, you need to first download and install the Netflix app from the Microsoft Store. This will require you to log in using your Netflix username and password, as well as have an active Netflix subscription. Once the Netflix app is installed on your computer, open a TV show or movie you want to download. Click the Download icon on the information page before you start playing. You will need to repeat this for every single episode of the TV show you want to download. Once the download has started, you can pause or cancel it by clicking on the circular progress icon that replaces the download icon. From the drop menu, select Pause Download to suspend the download or cancel the download to cancel it. You can also see the progress of current downloads, as well as see a list of completed downloads from the My Downloads menu. You can also access this menu by clicking the burger menu icon on the left and then clicking on the My Downloads option. My Downloads menu will show a list of downloads. An option called Smart Downloads will be visible in the top right corner. This is to limit the use of Netflix data. If you want to disable this option, click on the Smart Downloads option and then press the Enable Smart Downloads slider into a off position. To start playing a downloaded TV show or movie, click one of the options in the My Downloads menu and then tap the play icon in the content sketch center. To remove the content, click the tick icon in the bottom right corner, and then select the Delete Download option. How to download from Netflix to Mac While iPhone and iPad users can download from Netflix using the official Netflix app, there is no suitable option for Mac users. You can stream content from the Netflix website via a web browser, but you can't download content to your device for offline viewing. No app - no downloads. Mac users are left out of the cold on this, with no suitable option to get around the problem other than to try screen recording. This is a potential legal gray area, so this is not an option that we can recommend (and will likely lead to a lower quality video anyway).
